Principals' Message

To The Parents

Dear Parents!

Children are a source of great joy and make life complete for parents. They bring blessing and immense enrichments for parents in their lifetime. The children become sadqa-e-jariya when they pray for their parent's magfirath after parents are gone.

Almighty Allah has ordained the parents to bring up and educate their children well so that they become sincere and loyal slaves of Allah and worthy heir of their parents. Glad news of Jannah has been pronounced to those parents who give a good upbringing to their daughters and marry them off.

Illustration by : Marupaka Srinivas

The responsibility of upbringing of children lies more on the father than the mother. Being the head of the family, the father should guide his family to the right path. He should be kind, loving and affectionate towards his family without being weak. At the same time he should be strict enough and a disciplinarian without being cruel.

Now a days we see that parents are helpless and mute spectators of reckless behavior of their children. They pamper them with latest phones, bikes, good clothing, pocket money and all sorts of gadgets. This is because they are not able to spend quality time with their children and are busy in their own jobs or business.

I have seen instances of children giving a dreadful time to their parents, leaving them prone to all sorts of health risks, staying outdoors whole night sometimes with their parents' knowledge and sometimes slip out of the house after their parents fall asleep and without their knowledge. Male children are proving to be too problematic in most of the houses. Educating daughters in a house is easier compared to a son. Most of the boys are into power games and apps as technology is at their beck and call now. This is all because parents are spending more than their capacity for their children.

It will be more fruitful if the parents spend more of their time on their wards than their money; assume their wards as their assets and invest more time and energies on them, guide them to the right path so that they become successful in this life and the Hereafter also. They should also see to it that the children do not go astray, stay grounded, be true sincere and pious servants of Almighty Allah, obedient and faithful to the Prophet Mohammed (PBUH) and be a boon for their parents.

Parents should help their children in setting up goals in their life and see to it that the children work earnestly in that direction and give their 100% in achieving their set standards. Good manners are also as much important to adopt as good education to be acquired by the children.

Happiness is the key to success

Students frequently ask questions related to success. Some of them are:

- What is true success?
- How to lead a successful life?
- Why only few people are successful & most are not?
- What is the secret formula of success?

Remember "Success is not the key to happiness, happiness is the key to success. If you love what you are doing, you will be successful".

Such kinds of questions are hovering in the minds of millions of students. Everyone wants to become a successful person and gain name and fame. Nobody in the world likes failure. Some people think if they get big bank balance, luxurious car and house, they will become successful. But we see lots of people who have a huge bank balance but have mental stress and are not happy in their life.

In reality, the real success is helping others in need. True success comes when you achieve success in health, wealth, and spirituality. These are considered to be the pillars of success. There are several factors through which we can be successful in life.

If we go through the biographies of the great people, we will find that they have achieved the prosperity, dignity by overcoming a lot of challenges.

Everyone has sorrow in their life but most people can't find the way to overcome their grief and there are many people who learn the art of converting sorrow into happiness. Many of us have a number of excuses for our failure. We make excuses to accept the failure and stop struggling. So from now, we need to take a vow to stop giving excuses.

Last but not the least is to give respect to your teachers and obey them because they are the ones who guide you and help you in all possible ways. Unless you give respect to your teachers you won't be able to get anything.

"If you aim for small goals you can expect little achievements; If you aim for big goals you can expect Huge success". So, the ultimate suggestion is "THINK BIG".

Empowering the arena of education and bridging way to success

The newsletter- MS World- is a wonderful effort in empowering the arena of education and bridging way to success.

Through this platform we share and update our activities. The world today is changing at such an accelerated rate that to match the advancement in education we all need to make our children march ahead. We as educators need to reflect on this entire system of education thoroughly. Students have to be motivated to emerge as champions in their own sphere.

I would be modest to say that Alhamdulillah our teachers are doing very well. They are also inculcating moral and Islamic values in the children. Adhering to the moral values which are going to make a big difference in the life of students. Our teachers are preparing them as global citizens as well as a good human being.

Let us all blend harmoniously in bridging the way to success with a committed and supportive management, dedicated teachers, caring and cooperative staff.

Teens and Social Media Addiction

Human beings are social beings; the urge to make new friends, meet new people, share ideas and information always lingers within us; and especially as teenagers, we tend to burst with enthusiasm to indulge in this.

With changing times and onset of multiple social media networking sites, things have transformed. In this digital age it has become a trend to be active on as many social media networks as possible.

Children are now found sitting indoors making new friends online completely unknown to them. Once addicted to social media they indulge in comparing themselves with others, vying for attention, becoming victims of low self-esteem and finally giving in to depression.

This drags them away from their goals. Staying long hours online affect their personality. Their ability to think and handle situations is also at stake.

There were times when children of your age were found playing on the school playgrounds, in the parks, visiting families, listening to moral induced stories from loving grannies and making new friends in person

Word of advice:

My dear friends please understand your potentials. You are the pride of your parents, you are the shining stars of your institutions and the future of the nation. You have a great responsibility on your shoulders. Spending too much time on social media will snatch your mental and physical capability and you will lose confidence in you. Please recognise the importance of socialising in person and physical activity.

Stay happy, healthy and cheerful and conquer the world with your hard work and intelligence!

SOCIAL NETWORK AND I

Advancement in the field of science and technology has evolved the human race. It has always worked for the betterment of mankind. We, from our busy schedule, were not able to spare time with friends and family and so the technology gave birth to a new platform called the social-media.

This is a trending term of the developed, developing and even under-developed societies. Most of us wake up in the morning and crave for our mobile phones. We start tapping the phone to look for notifications about the activities on Social-Media websites and apps such as Facebook and Twitter. We do share our thoughts - no matter if they are real or fake, and do a lot more than that.

The effects of social media are twofold. One of the positives is that, we gain a lot of knowledge shared over this network by people. But you never know, not everything shared is true. Moreover, social media has become a market to sell-off hatred at the cost of diversified creed, caste, region, religion and so on. We feel happy when we receive messages from dear ones who really care for us. On the other hand, we are sometimes encountered with the use of abusive language on our posts. We watch a lot of videos and pictures posted by friends, while some users are promoting immorality as well. The social media is a platform for professionals and businessmen who could update their profiles with what skills they have, what is their field of expertise and what they could deliver. However, there are others who are using it to bluff, to make fool of others by asking for money in lieu of providing jobs or a business contract.

The apps/websites like Facebook, Twitter and others give us option to post our pictures as well. Everyone likes to be liked and loved by others. But beware of the fact that this race is becoming dirtier over such platforms. People are ready to take the risk of their lives in an attempt to click "unique" pictures and get liked. Some people have fallen into depression too.

We human beings are the most intelligent creatures that the Almighty Allah has created, so we should use our brains to make optimal use of the prevalent technology.

"CHARACTERISTICS OF A GOOD STUDENT"

A good student must have the following characteristics in him/her otherwise his/her personality will remain incomplete.

He should keep in mind that knowledge expands with doing exercises and is secured with questions. Knowledge is a treasure and question is its key. However, one should avoid needless questioning. Putting questions after questions to the teachers is an act of mischief and impertinence. Never occupy the seat of your teacher whether he is present or absent.

Always remember that you are a Muslim and you have to live in the world like an exemplary student. Keep prestige in walking, speaking and character so that others hold you in esteem. Speak with etiquette and avoid speaking harshly. Do not cross the limit during the fun and frolic nor do anything below the standard, etiquette and decorum.

A good student is also required to take part in sports, games and in curricular/extra curricular activities. However, he must keep himself away from unhealthy and destructive games and activities like conspiracies, regionalism and communalism. These activities are nothing but a stigma on the fair name of a student.

He must do his daily work without putting off, pay attention to the lectures, keep sitting peacefully, pay regards to your teachers and treat your class fellows with love, sympathy and good manners.

The messenger of Allah (SWT) said... keep sobriety while acquiring knowledge, Use me and see I will help you to reach your goals, dreams and ambitions. Use me and see I will make you healthy and wealthy. I can make you progress in your life. It means give your time to somebody because it is your precious gift and this is the best gift for anybody. I can heal, I can encourage and I can inspire.

Don't waste me take good care of me today and then I will take care of you tomorrow. Please give sometime to the Almighty Who has given you the great gift of time. HONESTY

Once there lived a cloth merchant, he was a very honest and good human being. He had small cloth store. Daily, he used to sell the cloth in bundles. Looking at his honesty everybody in the village used to buy the cloth from his shop.

One day he told his son to sell the cloth because he had to go to the wholesale market to buy cloth. While returning from the market, he saw a man was taking a bundle of cloth from his shop. He asked the price of that bundle, the man replied that it was Rs.200. The cloth merchant then asked the man to come with him. He took him to the shop and returned Rs.20. The man was shocked to get the money.

After returning the excess amount to the person, the cloth merchant scolded his son and told him not to take extra money because it was sin to charge extra money and we are answerable to God. "We should always fear God", said the cloth merchant. The son learned the lesson of honesty and promised not to do it again. After the death of the merchant, the son honestly did the business and thus became rich. He was also praised by the people for his honesty.

Modern trends - a boon or a bane?

Should we blindly follow the modern day trends?

Ever since the society has been under development, we have seen emerging trends. Everything has negative and positive impacts. Development comes from different commercial fields, considering the first as television, it is used all over the world today.

It has been a trendsetter that people have been using enormously. The main concern is what knowledge one attains from television. People can gain scientific, general, economic and political knowledge through television and also knowledge of movies, music and buzz about celebrities.

Thus there exist positive and negative impacts. Secondly we may consider phones as an impactful modern trend. Through which people connect with their loved ones and through which one forgets the joy of talking face to face. Social media is another concern which has a greater impact on teenagers.

Some people use it to catch up with people living far away and some use it for posting pictures and becoming personal to strangers.

The demonetization has wrecked people's lives as they got caught in debt traps and stress. These trends are affecting our ethics and taking us away from our religion and making us consider the worldly life as eternity. These modern trends affect human relations too. Hence, one must make out the difference between right and wrong and then focus on what one must follow. Now that we have seen the positives and negatives of the modern trends, so we come to a conclusion that we must not follow the modern trends blindly as they can ruin our lives.

Success is wisely managing personal and professional life

Success is one per cent inspiration and 99 per cent perspiration. Success and progress go hand in hand most of the time. We should keep in mind that there is no short cut to success. A successful person is not the one who has achieved great progress in his / her profession but it is the one who has taken care of life as a whole.

Success comes with punctuality. And if you have failed in that first endeavour, even if you have accomplished several tasks, they do not give the satisfaction that you yearn for.

People don't decide your success, it is you who decide your own success. At the end of the day, if you have managed both your personal and professional life wisely, then the smile of satisfaction on your tired face is your success.

We have to work wisely all the time. A successful person strikes a balance between his / her personal and professional life.

On certain days if you fail to strike that balance; it does not mean you are a failure, it is only a learning experience.

Failures are stepping stones towards success only when you learn from your failure. Planning and positive attitude will help you in the long run.

Success is not final, failure is not fatal, it is the courage to continue that counts. Failure is the condiment that gives success its flavour.

Accumulation of facts is not knowledge. It is when you utilize that knowledge at the right time and right place that measures your success.

Being in the limelight for all the wrong reasons is not success for that matter being in the limelight for all the good reasons may not be success either.

In short, success is progression. A well-managed and calculated life with means and ways to handle victory and defeat with an optimistic mind is success.

Tips to motivate students towards their studies

Encouragement is that magical thing that can boost anyone to pursue the goal and also increases the level of confidence among people.

Growing children need it the most from the side of their parents, family members, peers and teachers. There are some basic things that parents and teachers need to take into consideration while motivating children towards studies. These are:

1. Parents need to first know what the school expects from the child. Knowing the child's school curriculum can help parents teach them according to their need.

2. Children should be comfortable while studying. As adults, we need to take care of their areas of interest and structure our strategies accordingly.

3. We need to provide enough study materials to the children.

4. Making a daily routine according to the convenience of the children also helps them in studying

5. After a whole day's work parents need to review, what a child has done in the whole day. They need to check the home work done by their children and also need to check whether they have done it correctly or not.

6. There are some children who always want their parents to be around them during their studies. Parents need to support their child and also keep a close eye on their works so that the child can make serious effort.

7. Our aim is not to make the child study more. The main objective should be that the child should take the responsibility of success eventually. We can encourage them by celebrating their success even if it is a small class test. The school environment is also a motivating factor for the children. Teachers can also create a platform for children in the classroom where they can exchange their ideas and express their views.

Hafiz MSian makes to the top position

Hyderabad: Three MSians have made the community proud of their potential by scoring 10/10 CGPA in SSC examination, 2017. On the whole, MSians fared much better and higher as compared to their counterparts elsewhere with hundreds of A1s in all subjects across all its branches in Telangana. This year four Hafiz MSians also made a mark on the top slot.

Two Boys, Hafiz Mohammed Ismail Owais Khateeb and Mohammed Mustafa, proved their mettle by scoring 10/10 in all subjects and setting a new benchmark along with Sofia Nishad, who joined her peers with a perfect 10/10 CGPA as a testimonial to the commitment, dedication and collaboration of the School and Parent Community.

Alhamdulillah! This is the sixth year in a row that MSians scored 10/10 CGPA in SSC examinations, 2017.

Moreover, this year is quite exceptional as four students who scored 9.0 CGPA and above are Hafiz-e-Quran with Hafiz Ismail scoring 10/10 CGPA to set a new record for all the aspiring students from School as well as Hifz background. MS relentlessly works on the character of students along with their talents, while grooming them to achieve big and give to the country.

MODERN AND EARLIER NATURE

Now-a-days

*Nature is suffused with pollution,
People are mortified to plant trees,
People are in the thick of business,
Industries releases rotten gases in atmosphere,
Industrialization and deforestation has redoubled,
Flora and Fauna has plummeted,
People are distant with nature and it's beauty,
Lot of ecosystem assailed now-a-days.*

Earlier days

*People were friendly with nature,
People were encouraging others to plant trees,
Nature was also suffused with lot of beauty,
Nature was simpler from now-a-days,
People were nonchalant by seeing nature,
That was the fancy of earlier days.*

Tips to become a good Public Speaker

Public speaking is never an easy thing to do, some people are born with the talent, others need time to practice and master it.

Following strategies will help you prepare better for any speaking engagements you may have. It's important that while preparing for your speech, you let your personality show.

Practice Makes Speaker

Perfect:

Practice your speech a few days or a week ahead of the big day. Use this time to master each word that comes out of your mouth.

Practice with an Audience:

Practice in front of a small group of people to build your confidence. This is because when you hit the stage you won't get flustered by the amount of people you see.

Begin with an interesting

Question or story:

Start your speech with a question, story or puzzle; it will make the audience focus on you.

Hook Your Audience's

Attention:

You should deliver your big idea or proposition during the first few minutes of your speech this will be your "HOOK" and in this way you will obtain your audience's attention quickly.

Your Body Language is Key:

You are the first thing that the audience will see and how you present yourself plays a crucial part. Walk up straight while entering the stage.

Get Feedback:

Listen to what your audience says, it is one of the most important parts of being a successful public speaker.

Take every feedback as constructive criticism and apply it.

Reacting without knowing is foolish

A 24 Years old boy who was looking out of a train window, shouted, "Dad look the trees are going behind!"

Dad smiled and a young couple sitting nearby looked at the 24 years old childish behaviour with pity.

Suddenly the boy exclaimed again, "Dad look the clouds are running with us!"

The couple couldn't resist and said to the boy's father, "Why don't you take your son to a good Doctor ...?"

The boy's father smiled and said, "I did and we are just coming from the hospital. My son was blind by birth; he just got his eyes today,"

MORAL:

Every single person on planet has a story. Don't judge people before you truly know them.

"If you judge people, you have no time to love them "

LESSON FOR PARENTS

In two independent houses; separated by a compound, two people were living in, one a retired person and in the other a techie.

They had planted identical saplings on either sides of the compound.

The techie used to give lot of water and manure to the plants. The retired would put in just small quantity of water and little manure.

The techies plant grew into lush green, leafy robust plant. The retired person's plant was a near normal but much luxuriant than his neighbor's.

One night there was a heavy rain with gusty wind. Next morning both came out to see the fate of the plants.

To techie's surprise his plant had got uprooted where as his neighbour's was unharmed.

Techie asks the retired as why his plant was uprooted despite such a good care where as the neighbour had hardly cared.

The retired person's answer should be a lesson for all of us.

Look young man, you had supplied everything a plant would need, in abundance and the plant did not have to go in search of it. Your roots did not have gone down. I was supplying just enough to keep it alive. For the rest roots had to go down into the ground to fulfil it's needs.

Since your roots were superficial the rain and wind could easily fell it.

Since my roots were pretty deeply grounded they could withstand the onslaught of the nature.

The same applies to our children too.
