What do you like the most?

First and foremost, I love my amazing family. They are funny and kind, generous and warm. I am happy the way I am. I like life very much. For which I am grateful to Allah (SWT) for such a beautiful life. I love my teachers. Most of all my biology mam. Because she understands me and she is really sweet. I love worshipping Allah (SWT) and I like to offer my Salah and read Quran. The thing which is a best part of life is adapting change, by accepting the outer environment and discovering the inner beauty of myself with each new phase of life.

I like surprises because you never know what is going to happen to you. I like the way smile finds its way through my tears. The troubles that help to explore the best in me. I like people who gave lessons and helped me grow. I like my best friend who’s my favorite surprise. I like challenges. It shows how I am. I like to know the secrets of nature. Actually the journey of life itself is so wonderful. Because every second is important for us. I like the way that life gives you a chance to change. It taught me that yesterday cannot be changed and that you can’t do anything about tomorrow. So, the main thing it taught me, is to focus on today. It’s not what I like. But life is never perfect for anyone. Because if you breathe on this planet, you are guaranteed to get hurt and feel pain. I like the way everyone isn’t perfect and doesn’t get a chance to boast about it. The last thing is-- I love that life exists. It might not have, but it does. That itself is the most amazing thing.

Team Spirit

We are one, we are team,
 Don't let teammates cry
 or scream.
 Together we stand,
 together we fall
 We work together, we stand tall.
 We are one, we are team,
 We keep high the spirit of our team.
 We know how hardworking
 we have been,
 All of us shine like a beam.
 Let the spirit of our team show,
 And let everyone's minds blow.
 "We will work together",
 do you hear?
 We are sure, our victory is near.
 Single one can win a game,
 But teamwork can bring us fame.
 Teamwork leads to championships
 But it's impossible without good leaderships.

*Role of Students In Nation building*

Today's youth is tomorrow's future. It's easier to build strong children than to repair the broken men. The backbone of any strong nation is its students. Students are full of energy and they also have sufficient time for their studies. Student life is not very long, as such it becomes the duty of the students to acquire as much knowledge and information as possible during this time. Only then they can prove to be the true and proud sons of their homeland. Students have to build a high quality character during their studies because a nation is known by the character of its citizens. A nation with indiscipline youth is always in danger of extinction and can never prosper. Today's students will be tomorrow's citizens if the students today start learning and following a disciplined life then tomorrow they will be the nurtured and disciplined citizens of the nation. Students can pave the way for building a strong and progressive nation in the future. They can be responsible and honourable leaders in the assemblies and Parliament. Disciplined students become the literate citizens of the nation. Discipline is the first education which is essential for them to help to do something for the nation's building. They have to prepare themselves today for the bright future of nation's tomorrow. Today's students should equip themselves both mentally as well as physically so as to make themselves strong foundation of a great nation of tomorrow. They can build the best work force for the upliftment of the country. Students also learn the whole nation's diversified cultures, people, languages and the way of living under the different environment. As said "the dreams doesn't become reality through magic, it takes sweat, determination and hard work. At last I would like to conclude that "A champion is not defined by its wins but how they can recover when they fall". The best way to find yourself is to lose yourself in the service of others.

Psychologist's Advice: Techniques for preparation of exams

Remember the simple ROSES rule that covers the essential Do's for preparation of examination:

- R: Revise & recap
- O: Organize your time and study load.
- S: Sleep & rest.
- E: Exercise & eating healthy.
- S: Speak your heart out to near & dear ones – whenever, wherever.

Q : I get distracted just after 20-25 minutes of studying. How should I improve my concentration?

(Ayesha Fatima)

Ans: To improve your concentration, apply the following tips in your study schedule:

Stick to a routine - Draw a realistic revision schedule

Incentives - Create an incentive if necessary for successfully completing a task such as going out, food treat etc.

Change topics - Changing the subject one studies every one to two hours for variety, helps maintain concentration Varying study activities - At one time, you can do learning, other time practice maths or practice diagrams etc.

Alternate reading with more active learning exercises - if students have a lot of reading to do they can try the PQ4R method;

which is:

Preview: Survey the material to get an idea of the general organization, major topics and sub-topics. Look at headings and pictures to try to identify what one will be reading about.

Question: Ask questions about the material as it is read. Use headings to ask questions (who, what, why, where)

Read: Read the material.

Try to answer own questions while reading.

Reflect: Think about the material that was just read and try to make it meaningful by:

1) relating it to things that you already know about,

2) relating the sub topics to primary topics,

3) trying to resolve contradictions,

4) trying to use the material to solve simulated problems.

Exam Stress

Recite: Practice remembering the information by stating points aloud and asking and answering questions.

Use headings, highlighted words and notes on major ideas.

Review: Actively review the material, focus on asking yourself questions and rereading the material only when not sure of the answers.

Journey from Madrasa to International Conference on Engineering:

A talk with Hafiz Abdullah

From memorizing Quran to learning concepts and formulaes of engineering subjects was not a cake walk for Hafiz Abdullah, who traversed a long path to make his presence felt in the mainstream education.

Hafiz Abdullah is an alumnus of MS Lateefi-40 and pursuing B. Tech in Computer science. He struggled hard to get a seat in the engineering college to achieve his aim.

Recently his research paper on deep learning entitled "Building an adoptive E-learning system using recurrent neural network" was published on IEEE International Conference, Malaysia.

Hafiz Abdullah is a perfect combination of Modern and Islamic education. He is more inclined towards research and innovation. He started his journey of innovation by developing apps for college. Later on he did quite a few projects that were highly appreciated by the private and government sectors. He got projects from the government agencies. In fact he was assigned to develop official cloud for the forest department for conservation of turtle. He described his stay at the MS Lateefi 40 as a stepping stone for his success. It is platform where I learnt to think out of the crowd. It helped me to set up my goal and work with dedication and in a consistent manner.

Failure is the stepping stone for success

Failure is important part of our life, In fact failure is necessary even if it hurts us. It is impossible to go through a life without experiencing some or the other kind of failure. Everyone has experienced or has to experience failure at some or the other time. "We learn from failure not from success", but defeat is not easy to swallow, there is no worst feeling than facing failure. Failure leaves you bitter, miserable and depressed. Failure is the big scary word for the present world. All the successful persons in the world tested the failure in their life. "Bill Gates, the richest man in the world, has also undergone the trauma of failure. His first attempt to start a company was a huge flop".

FAILURE LEADS TO SUCCESS. One of the

Stephen King's most popular novels CARRIE was rejected no lesser than 30 times before it was published. Every successful person has these sorts of stories of failure. But still many think failure as the possible sign of success. Failure in fact is the stepping stone for success

Why is education so important?

Education is important because it equips us with all that is needed to make our dreams come true. Education opens doors to brilliant career opportunities. Education gives us knowledge of the world around us. It develops in us a new perspective of looking at life. It helps us build opinions and have points of view on things in life.

People debate over the subject of whether education is the only thing that gives knowledge. Some say, education is the process of gaining information about the surrounding world while knowledge is something very different.

They are right, but information cannot be converted into knowledge without the catalyst called education. Education makes us capable of interpreting things rightly. Education is not just about lessons in textbooks it is about the lessons of life.

Education forms a support system for individuals to excel in life. It is the back bone of society. Education also teaches us good manners and behaviour thus making us civilized citizens.

EXAMINATIONS

The examinations are coming near.

I'm here, trembling in fear.

Why did I not study all through the year.

Why I run with our books
helter, skelters

In June when the academic year starts.

We refresh all our hearts.

In September and October
flowers bloom.

But time passes in partial gloom.

November and December
are very very cold.

The books are too heavy to hold.

January and February are pleasant.

We are busy with all our enjoyment.

March comes along and
grips us with fear.

We run with our books
helter, skelter..
