Spotlight

A Talk with...

Nuzhat Sofi Khan, Finance Director,
on new initiatives. (Editor)

Q.1 What initiatives do you plan to introduce for MSians (students of MS) this academic year?

Ans: This year I have planned to introduce a few new initiatives for the students so that they excel in the competition, be it academic, sports or co- curricular activities. Among the top priority is to develop the reading skills of our students. Shortly we are going to introduce a speed reading course for the students to enhance their reading speed.

Q.2 What is speed reading course?

Ans: Speed reading course is a technique to help boost the reading skills. It is a scientifically developed course that enhances the reading speed of a normal reader from 150 words per minute (WPM) to 1000 or more words per minute. This technique was invented by Tony Bizan, the pioneer of memory training, mind mapping and speed reading.

Q.3. How will this course benefit our students?

Ans: This course will enhance the reading speed of our students 10 times more. With practice one can go up to 2000 or more words. By learning this new technique students can achieve new height in academic and other literary activities. This course will also develop their personality. It is because this course synchronizes the eye and brain together.

Q. 4: Why have you put the speed reading course for MSians in your priority list?

Ans: Recently I have been to London to undergo a training of speed reading. There I found people of various countries who come all the way from their respective countries only to learn this technique. Those people were business leaders, professionals, entrepreneurs and CEO's of big companies. Those people were avid readers but due to paucity of time they could not read more. There I found that it is the reading of books that enhances the mental acumen of any person and reflect on their personality. Those all participants were successful leaders of their respective fields and one thing was common in all of them - that is love of reading books.

Then and there I decided to make our students successful in their lives by instilling in them reading habits and that is fast reading so that they can read more number of books in less time and thus enhance their personality. The vast reading develop one's knowledge and keep him/her ahead of others.

In London I was astonished to see the benefits of it. I found people reading 1000 to 1500 words per minutes. We are living in a fast changing world and every day thousands of books come to the market. New ideas and information we got from these books, the more we read the more smart we will become. With this motto I have come forward to implement this programme in all our branches so that more and more number of students will be benefitted.

Recently I have conducted a 3 day workshop for our managers and HODs where they were exhaustively trained on the speed reading techniques. I have planned to conduct more such workshops to train all our teachers who can in turn transfer this techniques to all our MSians).

Technology Addiction OR Times of Life: The choice is yours

Technology has given us what we inherently crave for Socialization, Instant Communication, Knowledge, Entertainment and more. But it snatched our those tiny experiences that shaped our life. A few minutes of silence in lift, staircase, while driving, walking, before sleeping, after waking up to connect with Almighty or a few minutes of talk while eating, relaxing, shopping, playing, sightseeing to connect with family or a few minutes of thinking while cooking, lazying on couch, in bathroom, during breaks, at work desk to connect with ourselves and our lives. I call these breathers as the TIME FOR LIFE. These times of life are the oxygen for our relations, our mind, body, heart and souls.

These times of life have been replaced by the gadgets for calling, texting, socializing, exploring and what not. According to Locket Mobile App, average users check their phone 110 times a day and addicted users sometimes check up to 900 times a day or once in 6 seconds. That's is beyond addiction.

The world is getting engulfed with this addiction and its dangerous especially for the digital natives who can't even move without the help of a gadget. Almighty ordained modesty for us and a balanced life. Extremism in any action is forbidden and we should be watchful of our own actions. Doing anything that doesn't serve a purpose is like burning your hard earned money with your own hands.

In an experiments on WhatsApp addicts to shape their habits, he introduced a small task of reading Quran at least once in the day before checking any social messages. With a strong spiritual reason, they read Quran in the morning for a few minutes. This slowly became a progressive habit. In the beginning they could read only 1 para but gradually mastered half a chapter every day. And those days when they didn't read, they couldn't touch Social Messages. To control the urge, they started reciting in silent times, talking with family/relatives and thinking in those times of life. Within 3 months their life changed for good and they felt more such energy, positivity, belief and intellect.

To reclaim our times of life for a life time we need to adopt the following golden rules : 1) Start your day with something productive for your body, mind, heart or soul like reading, praying, chatting with family, writing your thoughts, etc. Make sure you plan your day. 2) Divide your day for Self, Family, Work and Worship. Fix number of hours per day or week and be your own big brother to push yourself. You can also have a buddy who does the same and reminds each other. 3) Identify the times of life in your life and pursue them proactively as if you found a lost treasure. Don't worry! You might look fake in the beginning but you and people around you will get used to it and it'll become natural. 4) People around you might not respond as you are changing the mindset and going against the norm. It's OK! Every great person becomes great because of the struggles they face. Go ahead! Be persistent! Remember, It's all being recorded. 5) Fix time for your urge to check Social Messages including eMails. This world won't stop if you don't respond within few minutes. No official calls once you reach home. STOP and make the most of the times for life. For emergency, use SMS and communicate the same to your important contacts. 6) Finally, introspect your day before sleeping. Appreciate yourself by writing the words of praise in a notebook/Digi book for all the achievements and resolve to complete the pending ones. Don't forget to forgive everyone before sleeping ahead of 11PM.

May Allah SWT forgive us for our mistakes, accept our efforts and bestow upon us all the abilities, skills and whatever needed to earn HIS pleasure.

Dr. Syed Misbahuddin (Deputy Director)

Discover Yourself

"I am me, you are you, thank you Allah you made me"

This is the hymn my daughter would sing every morning when she would go to school. At that moment she did not understand the depth and wonderful meaning of these lines; but often ponder on them.

"I am me" __ a unique creation of Allah with our personality and talent and purpose in life. No one can replace me as Allah's plan for the world.

What a pity! So many of us even don't know who we really are and what our purpose is in this life. Oh! How blindly we follow the latest fashion and fads and do the " n " number of things that everyone else is doing. How readily we destroy our beautiful, uniqueness by becoming one of the crowd!

Frustration in people in today's world is a common phenomenon. This is because there is no realization among us.

We have not discovered ourselves. If we spend at least ten minutes a day in silence and look inward, we will soon unearth our precious self.

Only then we will realize that one Abdul

Kalam, one Shahrukh Khan, one Ashwariya Rai or even one Mother Teresa are created by Allah as a component of the wonder of jigsaw puzzle which is the world.

Do you want to see Allah's; jigsaw puzzle incomplete surely not! So find yourself in order to fit perfectly into the place meant for you.

Remember our esteemed chairman's word:

I don't want to be one in the crowd, I want to be above the crowd".

MSians plant trees on Green Day

"Planting more trees will lessen global warming" with this intention Msians of Mumbra branch enthusiastically participated in the tree plantation drives on Green Day. Acting on Prophet Muhammad (SAW) sayings "If any Muslim plants any plant and a human being or an animal eats it, he will be rewarded as if he had given that much in charity."

Considering planting a tree is a continuous charity. All students enthusiastically participated in tree plantation drives and conveyed the message of Green Day through short skits, poems, mimes, role-plays.

A day with nature is an excellent way of learning Environmental Studies. Decorative charts were displayed to convey the message of green and clean environment. Observing the Green Day the students learnt the importance of trees, its uses, an experience to enrich their learning and cherish the fruits, resources available in nature.

Our Creative Kids were no less to dress themselves as fruits, vegetables and share their tender expression.

Promise is to be honoured in any situation

One day two young brothers brought a stranger to the calipha and said he had killed our father. When Umar (RA) asked the stranger, he narrated the whole incident and said, "I was resting and my camel entered into a field, the owner of the field stoned a camel and my camel lost one of its eyes. I got enraged and in retaliation I also stoned the Shaikh and he died on the spot. Although I had no intention to kill him but he died from my stone".

Calipha replied "As you had confessed your crime now you would be punished, and according to Islamic code of conduct you should be murdered for your crime"

Stranger replied, "I accept Islamic law with full heart and I am ready for the punishment. But before that I need to fulfill my duty. Since my father had given some valuables for my small brother and no one knows where I had kept it. Hence I request you to grant me three days' time, so that I could complete my duty. I will be back here to be punished after handing over the valuables to my brother".

The Calipha after a moment said "your wish is granted, but you must produce someone to stand by as a guarantor for you and he be responsible that you would duly turn up within 3 days for execution.

This statement of the Caliph cast a gloom over the young man because he was a stranger to the place and moreover who would endanger his own life by becoming a surety for a stranger. He was at a loss what to do. It was a critical moment for him because if he fails to turn up at the appointed time, the surety would run the risk of his own life.

At that moment from a corner of the Mosque, an elderly man sprang up to his feet and shouted "Amir-ul-muminin!", I offer myself as a surety for this young man," "This was Abuzar Gaffari (RA).

The young man was forth with released, promising to return in time for his execution.

His home was long way off, he travelled day and night. At last he reached home, his whole family was filled with joy.

In the meantime, there was much a sensation in Madinah, people had gathered at the Mosque, Abuzar Ghaffar (RA) the surety was also there. The young man was expected back at any moment but if he fails "Poor Abuzar!" he must die for nothing, people started trying their best to calm the two young men, but they failed to do so, and now the time has come for Abuzar (RA) to be executed and he was ready for the same, and at the same time there at a distant horizon, was seen a moving speck in a cloud of dust.

"I am sorry explained the young man, that I could not turn up at a right time and kept you waiting so long. I must especially ask pardon for my unknown benefactor who stood surely for me at the risk of his own life.

Everybody admired the young man's sense of honour and also Abuzar's (RA) spirit of self-sacrifice. The calipha was deeply touched too, and allowed the man to take rest in Mosque for some time

As they all sat down in the Mosque; the great calipha, Umae (RA), with the eager crowd around him, thus asked Abuzar (RA), "Abuzar, what made you risk your own life for the sake of this young man?"

"Amir-ul-muminin!" replied Abuzar (RA), "When the young man cast a helpless glance at the Muslim crowd. I wondered whether someone would come forward to his assistance and stand surety for him. It was a pity that one fellow Muslim would feel so helplessness and find him alone in this big crowd Muslim? The Islamic teaching says that all Muslims are brothers of one another.

I said to myself, "Let people not say that no Muslim came forward to help a fellow Muslim at the time of distress and that the good name of Islam must not be sullied, so I stood surety for him."

Everyone was greatly touched at these words. The calipha then turned to the young man and enquired, "What was it, o! young man that made you come back here to your own execution?" "Amir-ul-Muminin," replied the young man, my home was at the trackless heart of desert to which the hand of justice can never penetrate. There was nobody there to force me back here. But every time flesh was about to get the upper hand of the spirit, I said to myself, what would people say of it? "A Muslim breaking his solemn word of honour! Let not the name of Islam be sullied through me, I resolved, and in the midst of tears of dear ones, I jumped onto my camel's back and returned. The audience was once more moved to a high pitch of excitement.

Hearing the words of the young man, the two brothers said "Amir ul Muminin!", "This young fellow had killed our father and we had come all the way to see that he is made to pay, but today we are forgiving him.

Wisdom Infinite

Honesty is the best policy

A milkman became wealthy through dishonest means. He had to cross a river daily to reach the city where his customers lived. He would mix the water of the river generously with milk that he sold for a good profit. One day he went around collecting dues in order to celebrate the wedding of his son. With the large amount thus collected he purchased plenty of things. But while crossing the river in a boat, the boat sunk. The milk vendor was speechless with grief. At that time he heard a voice that had come from the river, "do not weep. What you have lost is only the illicit gains you earned through cheating your customers".

MORAL: Honesty dealings are always supreme. Money earned by wrong methods will never remain forever.

Judge intelligence on the basis of knowledge

Albert Einstein has said, "Everybody is a genius, but if you judge a fish by its ability to climb trees, then it will live its whole life being stupid". It's the same in school. There are many children who are like the fish with different strengths, yet they are forced to compete to get an 'A' grade - a letter used to determine quality.

Students are becoming like robots, who have to sit neatly in rows. If they want to speak, they raise their hands, mugging up the answers with no creative thoughts. This kills intellectuality, creativity and thinking capacity. Schools have been like this for the past 200 years and even so, nothing has changed. A teacher stands in front of 40 children with different strengths, skills, capacity and forces them to think the way she does.

Examinations see a student with extraordinary intelligence failing due to bad handwriting and one who just learns get the first position. Intelligence should not be judged on the basis of marks but on knowledge. If these students, say diamonds, are polished to perfection, society will see legends emerging and that credit will go to school.

A doctor can do heart surgery and cure the disease, but a teacher reaches the student's heart and prepares them for the future.

Good deeds take us to Heaven

Many of us hear this line quite often in our life "if you earn good deeds you will enter paradise and with bad deeds---hell"

None of us want go to hell. But do we really do anything worthy which will score us good deeds for paradise? We do nothing which is good enough to make us among the prestigious people going to Paradise. We dream of going to Paradise but never do what it takes to go there.

We kick down the toilet door the tenth times every day but never read the dua. We show people that "We are a practicing believer but behind their backs we are wasting time on very unnecessary things.

What do we do at the time of Fajr? Sleeping with the sweet dreams. What would happen if we wake up and offer the salah and then sleep? Does it waste our time - 4 Rakahs Of Fajr? Does it ? We have benefits for it, but still we skip it. We could sleep more peacefully with sweeter dreams.

Allah is the one Who can give us the best of the best. What we have to do is just ask Him. And what is the best way to do it? Prayers And dua. We will get what we need in appropriate time or the time we need it. Whatever stays with us are the good deeds not the WiFi or Facebook or whatever. Nothing is going to come to our grave only we and our deeds then we will be arisen from your grave and asked 3 Questions.

As I said nothing is going to come and that includes our memory. If we are having good deeds we can answer the questions. Earning the good deeds are easy, we can give alms to the poor , help someone , offer namaz and do dua. For that we need time and we have been given enough time to earn ourselves enough good deeds to enter into paradise. It lies in our hands, we have time to do it , but once we are dead our time is up.

Unity is our strength

Once upon a time there lived four cows in the forest. Every day they used to graze together in a particular spot. They were all friends. One day a lion saw the cows grazing together. The lion wanted to eat them. When the cows saw the lion all of them fought with him unitedly. The lion had to run away. A few days passed and the cows quarreled among themselves and started grazing separately. The lion killed all of them one after another.

Moral of the story : unity is strength.

How to become an excellent student

1. Be Prepared:

Take everything you need with you to class. It would be a good idea to take books, folders, pens, pencils, homework, review, sheets and anything else you need.

2. Be organized:

Staying organized in school is extremely important. If you are organized, then you are one step ahead in being successful. Keep a folder for each subject, that means you put your math papers in your math folder, your language art at your language art folder, your science papers in your science folder and so on.

To make this easier, use different colour codes or label your folders.

3. Be attentive:

Pay attention in class:

a) When a teacher is giving a lesson, take notes and if you don't understand something, raise your hand and ask a question. The more questions you ask, the smarter you will be. Believe it or not, it will help you think more and help you understand what is being taught.

b) Concentrate on staying focused. Keep your eyes on the teacher, keep your ears open and take notes.

birthday song and Shamsia cut the cake. We all ate yummy snacks, fruit salad and sandwiches. I was sad to say good bye when it was time to leave. I had so much fun that day. I hope all my friends to come when I give my birthday party next month. Oh, what fun we will have then. I hope to see U soon Dadi Jaan.

A POETRY ON GRAMMAR

A Noun is the name of everything
Like man, college, queen or king,
In the place of noun
pronoun stand
His eye, your nose and her husband.
Verbs tell of anything done,
Teach, Carry, Joke or Fun.
How things are done adverb tell,
As smartly, slowly quickly or well.
Adjective always describes a noun.
As blue bird, white shirt
or black gown.
Conjunction joins the
words together,
As students and teacher,
wind and weather
keep noun pronoun and
put preposition before.
As on the chair or through a door.
Interjection shows
always surprise,
Oh! How beautiful Ah! How wise.
There are articles only three.
Indefinite "A" "an" definite "the"
All are called parts of speech, which help us to learn English
and teach.
They are thus easy to learn
Stop, learn then next page turn.
So, let's try as much as we could,
And make our English good.

A TALK BY TREES

The trees say, Don't cut us –
We helped you,

You also abandoned us
from many years,

You neither planted us nor
gave any food,

Instead you killed us for your uses.

Your ancestors were
kind people,

-MAY GOD BLESS THEM-

They managed and treated us as a part of their family,

But you stupid are killing us
for money.

Money comes and ends
at a limit,

But we protect and produce O₂
for you up to long years,

You made a business of us,

You sold us, and begin construction.

Remember those days,
when we gave O₂ to
survive your life,

We protected you from sunlight and rain.

You are brainless, you don't have pity on us,

We are ready to sacrifice
our lives,

But remember-if we all
disappear then,

There will be neither you nor any world.

You are silly fellows,

Why god made you such worst?,

You always think about money,

But not the lives and future of your children.

You go on thinking and earn money, money.....

Cutting Edge!

Guess Who?

Who is the one who opens his/her students' eyes, to see the truth of the world?

Who is the one who scolds, only because he/she cares about you, and your future?

Who is the one who can turn you into a better person, than you are now?

Who is the one, who looks like a puzzle to you, but once you put the pieces together, you'll never forget the person?

All these personalities lies to none other, but a "Teacher".....

Humanity

I can see them crying, screaming and waiting too lazy, they were beaten up like animals in the zoo

I can see humans but not humanity because they are not aware of the world "fifty".

My heart stopped pumping and got blocked, by watching them with chains which were locked. I can feel the great pain in their mother's eyes, who were watching their children getting sliced.

But still the people are not aware, what they do is only stare.

The Lost

I don't know where I am

Because I am lost

Lost in the thoughts

Or cost in the books

I think the lost pencil and the broken toys are better than the lost friends and the broken hearts.

My broken heart always cry and cry.

My best friend is lost and no one can pay its cost.

Creative Technological Ideas

My idea of future world

"Flying Shoes"

My idea of future world is that life should be easy for us. For this I wish to bring some changes. I wish to make flying shoes. Shoes with wings so that when I want to go to my grandmother's house I can avoid traffic and reach my grandmother's house in shortest of time.

"Automatic Fast Pen"

Another idea is to make an automatic fast pen which will help all the students in doing homework in less time so that they can get more time to play.

Our Future Car

I dreamt of inventing a multipurpose car - a car that can fly in air, float on water and can also run on land. The car will be Auto - pilot mode. It will be also able to go deep in water and height up in the air. It will have no tires and can be able to float smoothly on land. In air it can go from India to America. It will be very useful for us and we will easily be able to do our work. Our future car should be the coolest and the fastest car.

I thought about this idea when I was in 5th class. If my father would get ill, or it may be really urgent, it should be really easy to use. I didn't think much about this idea, but during my last visit to my aunt's house my cousin Hassan who is in 4th grade was talking that if he would be a scientist then he would have tried to create an incredible car. That moment I thought if a kid who is 5 years younger than me, can think of such an idea, then why don't I build mine. This is what I thought of...

Money tree

This may sound greedy but, my creative technological idea is that I want to invent a money tree. For this I want to invent a solution which will turn the tree leaves into currency notes.

One drop of solution will be enough to convert the entire tree leaves into currency notes.

I do not want the money tree to be growing in hundreds. I just want to be able to run out of my house and grab Rs.10 from the tree on the way so that I can buy a snack or something else. I could even use all that money I grow for charitable purpose.

Cloud bed'

My dream is to invent a new machine that would be named 'cloud bed' - a flying bed. We could move the bed anywhere when we press the buttons upon it. It's very realigning and soft.

It will be very useful for old people and people with fracture. The 'cloud bed' will take the static and bedridden persons to their desired places. Isn't this idea great?

Invisible Hand

I want to invent an invisible hand. The invisible hand is a hand like a glove. It can go longer than 10 cm. Without any walking we can take the things easily. When we think to do a work, the work gets done automatically. This invisible hand can do all types of work. It will be useful to pick up the objects and to grab hard things easily.

Each day I'll do my best.

And I won't do any less.

My work will always please me,

And I won't accept a mess.

And I will not be happy,

Till my papers are complete.

I'll always do my homework,

And try my best on every test.

I won't forget my promise.

Fluid Thoughts

Righteous child is a Sadqa-e-Jaria for parents

A woman wanted to attend Dars (religious lecture) at the women's centre but she had no one to take her there. She phoned a taxi company and a young man about twenty years of age came driving the taxi and took her to the centre.

After reaching the designated place when she gave the transport charges, which was fifteen riyals, to the young man, he refused to take saying, "I have sworn whoever I take to the centre for learning Quran or to attend Dars, or to the Masjid or to the hospital, I will not take from them a single riyal.

When the woman asked the reason, the young man replied that he is doing all this as Sadqa-e-Jaria for her mother who passed away three years ago. He requested the lady to pray for his mother whose name was Noorah".

After reaching the centre, she narrated the story of this young man to everyone in the Dars. She also requested everyone to pray for his mother. In sympathy and admiration for the young man, the people at the centre collected donations among themselves and dug a water well for the sake of his mother.

The goodness of this young man's obedience to his mother truly reflects the sayings of Prophet

Mohammed (PBUH) in which he said "when the human being dies, his deeds come to an end except for three. Ongoing charity, beneficial knowledge or a righteous child who prays for him".

Story of an ugly tree

Long long ago, in a dense forest there were thousands of tall and beautiful trees. They were happy and proud of themselves. Among them there was also an ugly tree whose branches were badly twisted. Its roots had uneven curves. All the trees would make fun of the ugly tree.

"How are you, hunhunclo back" the other trees would always shout and make fun of the ugly tree. Their laughter made the ugly tree feel sad. But he never raised a voice against them. The ugly tree thought, "I wish I were as beautiful as the other trees. Why did God do this to me? Neither can I provide shade to the travelers nor can the birds make their nests on me. Nobody needs me".

One day a woodcutter came to the forest. He put a glance at the trees and said, "These trees are lovely. I must cut them." As soon as he picked up his axe the trees became frightened. The woodcutter cut all the beautiful trees one after another.

Moral: Never be proud.

Education is a passport for prosperity

The beginning of education is the end of poverty. In today's world, without education survival is difficult. To be successful in life, education is a must.

These days wars are not fought with swords (missiles) but with the power of pen which comes through education.

It is only through education that a person can become self dependent, confident, responsible and can lead a successful life. Education also eradicates poverty and the problem of unemployment. It is a must for personality development.

Education is a passport for prosperity not only for the individuals but also for the whole nation. Education has numerous qualities, advantages and benefits. It develops talents, brings respect, dignity and sense of security. So it is an essential factor in deciding the quality of life that one can live. This will ultimately lead to the development and progress of a nation.

Hard Work Brings Success

There once lived a rich businessman who had a lazy but fun loving son. The businessman wanted his son to realize the value of labour. One day he said to his son "today, I want you to go out and earn something, failing which you won't have your meals tonight." The boy was callous and not used to any kind of work. This sudden demand of his father scared him and he went crying to his mother.

His mother grew restless and she gave him a gold coin. In the evening when the father asked his son what he had earned, the son presented him the gold coin. The father then asked him to throw it in the well and the son did as he was told.

The father was a man of wisdom and experience. He immediately guessed that the source of the gold coin was boy's mother. He sent his wife to her parent's town. He again said his son to go and earn something. This time he went crying to his sister who gave him a rupee coin out of her savings. When his father asked him what he earned today, the boy tossed the coin to him. The father again told him to throw it in the well. The father sent her daughter to her granny's house. Now his son was alone at the home and no one was there to help him. Since no one was there this time to help him, he was forced to go to the market and search for work. After a lot of hard work he got 2 rupees.

His feet were trembling and his neck and back were aching. There were rashes on his back. As he went home he gave the 2 rupees note to his father. As usual the father asked him to throw it into the well. This time the son was furious because he earned the money through his hard labour. In anger he said "my entire body is aching! My back has rashes and you are asking me to throw the money into the well".

His father smiled and replied, "One feels the pain only when the fruits of hard labour are wasted.

Story depends on the story teller

Long ago, humans and animals could talk to each other. Once a man and a lion got talking. The lion was very proud of his strength. "I am the king of beasts. I am stronger than any man. That is why man fear me.

The man was also proud of his intelligence. "Don't forget that man are more intelligent than you. That is why they can hunt you and capture you.

They both began to argue about who is stronger. At last, the man took the lion to a statue in a big garden. He showed the lion the statue of Hercules standing proudly with a dead lion at his feet.

"See, this statue proves that man are stronger," claimed the man.

From this story, we can see that story depends on the story teller. When someone else tells the same story they tell it from their point of view.

Wisdom is strength

Once there lived a family of deer in a lush forest. There was a father deer and two sons in the family. As time passed the father deer fell sick. He called his two sons and told them "Dear sons after me either of you two would become the leader. Learn the art of surviving, don't lead the herd during daylight and don't graze in the thick forest. Graze in open lawns and lead well".

After the death of the father deer, the two sons divided the herd into two herds and left the forest in search of new living place.

One deer did not take heed of the father deer's advice soon, many deer in the herd were either killed or died because of heat.

The other deer was very careful to lead the herd according to the advice given by the father deer. The entire herd was safe and healthy.
